

Report: Professor Paul Swope guest- lecturer at the International Educational Program

At the invitation of the OHRID Institute, Professor Dr. Paul Swope gave a lecture on Entrepreneurship under the title of "Entrepreneurship and Innovation as Engines of Growth Youth Entrepreneurship: The Force of Positive Change". The same as so far the lecture was held in front of the students of the International Educational Curriculum at the University American College on May 21. Professor Swope with the lecture, concluded the International Educational Program. Namely, this was the last lecture to be held at the University American College and it represents the end of the International Curriculum.

The lecture which Professor Swope held was a bit different from the other and it represented perfect conclusion for the students. The lecture was up-to-date and the methods and approaches which Professor Swope used managed to capture the attention of the whole class. One of the impressive aspects selected was the focus on the Professor's real experience and a lifestyle. Through multiple examples and great presentation, Professor Swope showed the students the real values of one entrepreneur and what are the costs of becoming one.

The students were impressed by the whole presentation and the lecture in whole. Professor Swope through the lecture showed the students how to use the knowledge gained on the classes held so far, exemplifying his whole life as an entrepreneur. After the lecture a discussion was followed in the form of question and answer session whereby the students asked many questions and discussed the issues touched upon during the class. Professor Swope invited the students to take an internship at the Neuwaldeg Institute in Vienna, Austria.

The OHRID Institute is proud to announce that the course went successfully and the professors which held the lectures influenced greatly towards the students' view on some points of the International political economy.
