

PRESS RELEASE

13th of May, 2009

We would like to announce that the OHRID Institute one more time brought distinguished professors to teach at the University American College. The lecture on 12 of May was held by the two eminent professors Dr. Pierre Garelo from France and Professor Wolfgang Muller from Germany.

This lecture differed from the others, namely because the professors established constant debate among the students. For the first time we had two professors making parallel between the economic trends in EU with primary focus on France and Germany.

The students were divided in several groups giving issues to debate and discuss. Afterwards, the students had to give arguments for the decision and present them in front of the group.

This way of holding lecture encapsulates wider and elaborate thinking and developing of new ideas and thesis. The topic of the lecture was: The political economy and the new trends in EU.

Pierre Garelo is professor at the Université Aix-Marseille, France and director of the Centre d'Analyse Economique. Professor Garelo is also currently in charge of coordinating research in economics at the University Aix-Marseille and director of the Institute for Research in Economics and Fiscal Issues –IREF and the Institute of Economic Studies-Europe. The Institute of Economic Studies more than 15 years organizes educational summer seminars in whole Europe. Professor Garelo presented the program to the students which is another opportunity and benefit which the OHRID Institute offered to the students of the International Educational Program.
